

XPO 2009

See what's inside...

Saturday 3rd and Sunday 4th October 2009, The Barbican, London

"...The Xpo is a show that exudes an open and friendly experimental atmosphere, that is as discreet as it is spectacular; utterly enchanting and thoroughly educational. The Xpo must be seen, touched and tasted to be believed."

The Xpo has become Europe's premier fetish and alternative lifestyle shopping experience, bringing together the very best designers, retailers and entertainers in a friendly, welcoming environment where the adventurous can shop, meet friends, be thoroughly entertained and explore the fabulous world of fetish.

Part of the decadent London Fetish Weekend (1st-4th October) - 2009 sees the Xpo moving to a new hall at the Barbican and with the bigger space everything will be on one floor including the exhibitors, demonstrations, workshops, fashion shows and the Cafe & Bar - enhancing the atmosphere and ensuring you don't miss a thing!

Fashion at the Xpo

Fetish has always been there - be it dancing sensually from the side-lines or emerging proudly into the spotlight of celebrity.

Designers including Galliano, Vivienne Westwood, Versace and Gaultier have given more than a passing nod to the seductive and extreme styles born in the fetish world, and these influences regularly appear on the catwalk and in glossy magazines the world over.

The Xpo provides the perfect opportunity to see the designers who devote their lives to this beautiful niche of fashion in their full glory - showcased by the phenomenally successful Fetishistas Catwalk, provided by our Online Sponsors at www.thefetishistas.com.

Exhibitors

As well as designer latex, corsetry, leather, jewellery, accessories and shoes, there will be a great selection of exhibitors on display at the Xpo, including toys (the naughty kind), sweets (the yummy kind), magazines/books, events (the fun kind), and even a Love Lounge!

Some of the best names in the industry will be exhibiting in 2009 with some newcomers to the scene as well. More details at www.thexpo.co.uk/exhibitors.htm

Entertainment

The Xpo provides a full schedule of entertainment and workshops over the weekend, including escapology, burlesque, rope bondage and a slew of eye-boggling walkabout entertainers.

New to the Xpo!

This just in! Jed Phoenix of London will be providing lucky visitors with Shoe Shine service and d.vote will be launching the Alien Egg! Watch www.thexpo.co.uk/news.htm for more details and announcements.

Media Sponsors

Bizarre Magazine is supporting the Xpo and will be promoting their own Bizarre Ball which takes place a couple of weeks after London Fetish Weekend - a marriage made in Heaven (or Hell?).

Press

The Last Stand press room will be returning for 2009 so representatives who wish to attend the press event on Saturday 3rd October should email press@thexpo.co.uk.

www.theXpo.co.uk

For images, preview information, interviews or competition/give-away ideas please contact Li Bromfield on +44 (0)7785 732 612 or email li@thexpo.co.uk